Thirsty Ear Pub:

- Due to liquor license rules every opening of Thirsty Ear requires a $240 staff cost, even for alcohol-free events. Also the sales per opening is only $100.
- MIT Dining: Decommise beer taps; sell bottled beers in locked fridge only. So no 240 anymore.
- Pro: We don't fully close it, so we still have a liquor license => no need to cost $350-1000 ish for events with alcohol.
- Issue: Irreversible (cost $10000-ish to install beer taps). Also making it student-maintained may require extra staff & cost.
- Next step: Wait for Thirsty Ear Exec Committee for their feedback.

Orientation:

- from Luke: Event committee has already applied for 10k from GSC & 2k from GRCC. Will fwd the events list to Mary & Katie and he will track the most significant events.

- AHEC: will oversee welcome letter & door magnets.
- Also coordinate with SidPac / Warehouse to avoid time conflict. Daniel will attend Naomi's breakfast meeting to discuss this.
